

Application for admission to the BA in Public Health, BS in Public Health, or the minor in Public Health for current UCLA students

Non-UCLA students are not eligible to apply using this application. Please see the UCLA Undergraduate Admission Office for information about applying to UCLA.

In this application, you will be asked for the following information:

1. Name, UID, email address, program choice, and information about planned absences
2. List of public health courses completed or currently taking
3. Personal statement explaining your interest in public health and any experiences relevant to public health (no more than 300–500 words; PDF preferred)
4. Resume (PDF preferred)

You may preview the entire application here.

The application should be completed in one sitting, so please have your personal statement and resume ready to upload. You may apply to only one program (BA, BS, or minor). Multiple submissions are not accepted. The application deadline is April 3, 2023.

The admissions committee will review the material you submit as well as your UCLA transcript and release decisions shortly after the application deadline.

Please note, the BA and BS in Public Health require students to follow the below course schedule as a group/cohort over the next two years.

2023–24

Fall: Biostatistics 120 and Epidemiology 120

Winter: Community Health Sciences 120 and Environmental Health Sciences 120

Spring: Health Policy and Management 120

2024–25

Winter: Public Health 185A (Capstone I)

Spring: Public Health 185B (Capstone II)

The major in Public Health (BA and BS) have seven required public health courses and three public health elective courses. One of the elective courses should focus on community engagement. The public health elective courses can be taken in any term, provided that the course prerequisites have been met.
